The Intermountain Region is seeking landscape architects to join our team in building a community of practice for landscape architecture, sustainable recreation, outdoor accessibility, scenery management and planning. These positions will be open to both Federal employees, and all United States citizens.

- Positions are full-time, permanent positions at various grades. Two positions are GS-12s, seven positions are 9/11s, and three positions are GS 9s.
- Responses to outreach should include which position(s) candidates are interested in being considered.
- The application announcements will be posted on USAJobs.gov, and individuals who respond to this outreach will be notified when applications are being accepted.

Description of Duties

- Development of conceptual plans, site plans, master plans
- Design narratives, cost estimates, construction documents
- Project management and monitoring
- Surveys and transition plans for recreation sites and trails to meet outdoor accessibility
- Trails, trailhead, scenic overlooks, campgrounds, and other recreation site improvements
- Visual (scenery management) inventory, assessments, and monitoring
- Recreation planning
- Recreation settings and opportunities inventory and facility analysis
- Forest restoration and vegetation management project design and analysis
- Interpretative signs, kiosks, and other media
- Scenic byways/bikeways/trails corridor planning and projects
- Community and partner level strategic planning efforts and events
- Collaboration with other landscape architects, recreation, engineering, and interdisciplinary staff areas

A degree in Landscape Architecture is required. These positions require both office and field work. Office work requires frequent meetings and proficiency with word processing and computer programs such as AutoCad, ArcGIS, and Microsoft Office suite of programs. Experience with the Adobe Creative Suite and other graphics applications are preferred. Applicants must have a valid driver's license.
